

Sing we merrily unto God our King,

Martin Luther 1526.

Sing we merrily unto God our King, whose goodness daily unto us doth bring,
whose grace will be with us still,
and whose favor and protection will not fail us.
Sing we merrily unto God our King,
whose goodness daily unto us doth bring,
whose grace will be with us still,
and whose favor and protection will not fail us.
Sing we merrily unto God our King,
whose goodness daily unto us doth bring,
whose grace will be with us still,
and whose favor and protection will not fail us.
Sing we merrily unto God our King,
whose goodness daily unto us doth bring,
whose grace will be with us still,
and whose favor and protection will not fail us.
